

Extensive Flooding In the North County

A windswept deluge which hit peak gusts of nearly 50 miles an hour early on Tuesday cut a swath of damage throughout San Mateo County, causing widespread flooding and mudslides and sent scores of trees crashing down, one on top of a San Mateo home. The family escaped injury.

Bayshore Freeway was shut down because of flooding at Grand Avenue in South San Francisco shortly before 9 a.m. A carport was blown over onto an auto in Millbrae. Falling trees snapped utility lines, cutting power off to thousands of homes in this county and throughout Northern California.

Full gale warnings were posted in San Francisco. Peak gusts of 60 miles an hour threatened. The California Highway Patrol issued a Sig-Alert by 8 a.m. warning motorists away from the storm lashed Cabrillo Highway at Devil's Slide. Pescadero reported 2.17 inches of rain at 8 a.m.

Mudslides were reported blocking scores of roads.

Heavy flooding was reported in the north and south ends of the county, closing other roads.

Bayshore Freeway was flooded in South San Francisco where Colma Creek again overflowed its banks, shutting down Spruce, Linden and Orange avenues which cross the creek. Numerous injury accidents were reported by police throughout the county and blamed on slick road conditions and blinding rains. At one point in the storm Pacifica firemen said the downpour was so heavy it obscured visibility to the degree it almost looked like fog.

Ryan Tells Experiences

New Man in Washington, D.C.

By FRANK LAPIERRE

"A lot of small things brought me to town," Congressman Leo J. Ryan told newsmen during his first meeting with the press since his election in November. Ryan maintained an informal atmosphere at the hour-long meeting at the Burlingame Hyatt Hotel by explaining the pitfalls of being a freshman congressman.

These "pitfalls" include being low man on the list for office space and two major readjustments he had to make. One was the weather ("I bought a heavy overcoat and thermal underwear") and the time differential between the East and West coasts ("I'll keep my watch on San Mateo time").

At present, Ryan is living in an efficiency apartment, having lost his bid to buy a house to another elected official who offered the owner $20,000 more than Ryan.

Washington, D.C., is a nice place to visit — but you really wouldn't want to live there, Ryan said.

One of the major purposes of his visit at this time, Ryan explained, is to conduct firsthand studies on the possibility of acquiring additional lands for the Golden Gate National Park. It is Ryan's hope that the mountain ridge stretching from Daly City down the length of the San Mateo County coast can be included in the present park package.

Another purpose is the Colma Creek flood problem.

"I want to meet with people on the scene and perhaps learn from them what to do," Ryan said.

He scheduled a meeting with San Mateo County officials.

Manager Gale Dreishach on the Colma Creek matter today.

One thing Ryan made perfectly clear is his disenchantment with San Francisco for its attempts at detaining policy within San Mateo County.

Ryan said he will take whatever action necessary to stop such actions in the future.

He was referring to such matters as San Francisco-owned lands within San Mateo County, in particular International Airport, and Airport Manager James Carr's latest proposal to extend runways across Bayshore Freeway almost into Millbrae's backyards.

He scoffed at the proposal by Carr and said he would vigorously oppose it.

On the matter of foreign affairs, Ryan felt he could assist local businesses in getting involved overseas. He cited as an example a possibility of having a local refrigeration firm undertake a contract for a South American ice plant.

Everything didn't go Ryan's way in Capitol Hill. He wanted badly to be on the House Banking and Currency Committee, or Interstate Commerce as a second choice.

He wound up with an assignment on the Governmental Operations Committee.

Barry P. Welch, 19-year-old Thursday by Superior Judge Gerald E. Ragan, who placed Welch on five years probation, took away the defendant's driver's license and directed him to refrain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Welch had pleaded no contest to a charge of local drunk driving in the case.

Highway patrol reports at the time of the 11 a.m. crash July 4 stated that a car driven by Welch clipped the rear of a car driven by Benjamin Williams, 18, of San Bruno, on Cabrillo Highway in Half Moon Bay. The Williams car careened out of control across the center line and was starting to overturn when it was struck by an oncoming sheriff's patrol car (R. Rick Schrier, 31, of Belmont).

Williams and two passengers in his car, Darlene Flynn, 16, and Kathleen Gallagher, 15, both of Millbrae, were all killed. A total of six others, including Schrier, were injured.

The deputy, who suffered a skull fracture, still has not returned to duty and suffers from double vision. Assistant Sheriff Eugene Stewart reports that the deputy may never be able to return to duty and might have to take disability retirement.

In his report on Welch, Probation Officer A. W. Peters stated that the defendant told him that "No amount of jail would make me more remorseful about the victims."

There appears little hope that San Mateo County will soon be rid of San Francisco's jail facilities in San Bruno.

The County Planning Commission voted this week to replace a 30-year-old sewage treatment facility at the jail at a cost of $370,000.

In its report to the commission, the planning staff notes that "a capital expenditure of this size serves to decrease the likelihood of moving the jail to another site."

Also noted is that the existing treatment plant is of inadequate capacity to handle current demands, "a fact which periodically results in the pollution of San Bruno Creek."

The new project will allow sewage to be disposed of through the Westborough Water District sewage disposal system which ties into the North San Mateo County Sanitation District.

Officer Fights To Save Job

South San Francisco Transit Co. is no more.

The six-month-old service came to an end Monday after the City Council voted 22-0 to motion to pay the firm a three-month subsidy.

Climaxing the tumultuous emotion-packed meeting, Councilman Gordon T. Bollitt moved to grant a $12,000 subsidy for three months, using this period for a "real good study" and to give the bus company a "chance to run their lines where the people want to go."

At the end of this period he proposed, there would be a city election, held together with the regular school district vote, at which the voters would be asked to decide whether they wanted to grant the bus line another $12,000 for three more months — at which time it would be eligible to receive gasoline sales tax funds from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

Under civil service rules, Pazackerly had 15 days to appeal the action to the personnel board by submitting an appeal in writing to the city manager.

However, Pazackerly wasted no time, and appealed immediately.

Pazackerly has appealed to the South San Francisco Police Association for help, and a series of meetings have been going on, both among policemen and firemen, many of whom according to department sources — plan to back Pazackerly.

A petitioner is reported to be going around among city employees, backing up Pazackerly, who has also been reported to have retained an attorney.

Meanwhile, Deputy City Atty. John Shaw said that the Personnel Board has so many matters pending that they will ask for a delay, from the 10-day rule, in hearing the appeal. The board meets next January 23.

What the two business partners propose is construction of a 24-stable stable on some 3.4 acres of land on Carter Street near the San Francisco-San Mateo County line.

A similar proposal made by Crocker 1 a d Company some three years ago was met with stiff opposition from both Schindel and Leonetti because of odors.

Schindel said he had since checked the matter of modern horse stables out further and found them to be clean and free of disturbing horse scents.

But the people immediately above the proposed equestrian development — in the South Hill area of the city — have registered complaints with City Hall on the Schindel plans, just as they did when Crocker made its appeal for a riding center nearby.

Councilmen Victor Kyriakis and Tony Giammona, along with City Attorney Al Polonsky, pointed out complaints from homeowners in the area above the Schindel-Leonetti proposal are vehemently opposed to the development.

John Walker, city planner, told the council the stables are not considered by his office to be the best use for the land.

Limited water supplies in the area and the possibility of albert remote, it was explained — of water system contamination resulting from any back-surge in the pipeline, were also reasons for rejecting the permit. City Engineer David Macabee said.

Macabee explained the current water system within the Diamond Valley District and is considered insufficient to service the stable — especially in case of fire.

If a new water system were to be installed it would be the responsibility of the developer to pay all costs of construction and design. City Manager David Rowe said.

The arrests culminated several weeks of investigation in which police had watched the activities of the men involved, Hansen said.

On each $100 card a "skim" of $100 was made to compensate the card circulator for his time. Police explained. The remaining $90 was given out in various amounts, it was understood.

Arrested and charged with illegal pool selling was Robert G. Selhorn, 30, of 306 St. Francis Boulevard, Daly City. Selhorn, 47, of 156 East Vista Avenue, Daly City, an unemployed bartender, and Edward J. Byrne, 47, of 156 East Vista Avenue, Daly City, an unemployed gardener. The trio was held on $500 bail.

S.S.F. Brawl

Two people were injured, one with a fractured skull, in a Saturday night bar fight in South San Francisco, followed by an arrest.

Most seriously injured was Oskene Iese, 30, South San Francisco laborer who was attacked by a beer bottle and a bar stool. Also hurt was Kenneth Ekstrom, 55, South San Francisco, owner of Ken's Club, 751 Airport Boulevard, where the fight took place.

Sheriff's deputies said a Daly City man who escaped from the North County courthouse in South San Francisco 40 days ago, after being sentenced to the county jail for Monday by Judge F. Jose delarrios for petty theft may have made arrangements ahead of time to have a friend pick him up.

In any case, Deputy Raymond A. Garibaldi reported, Greg Scott, 18, of 222 Schwan Street, now faces a felony escape charge.

Prisoner Escapes In South S.F.

Garibaldi reported he was taking Scott and another prisoner to a holding cell shortly after noon until they could be taken to the county jail in Redwood City.

He said when he placed a key in the lock of the cell, Scott broke away, ran down a corridor and into the building. Garibaldi placed the other prisoner in the cell, and he and Deputy Michael Kerr ran out of the building after Scott. A passerby said he saw Scott running toward Grand Avenue at the rear of the building. An immediate search of the area, however, failed to turn up any sign of the missing Scott.

Pool Arrests

In Daly City

Three men were arrested at Mission Street bars in Daly City Saturday for allegedly operating (football) pool cards for the Super Bowl game held yesterday.

Police said the cards were for $1000 with chances selling at $10 each.

One full card and a half of another card were taken as evidence in the case, according to Police Capt. David Hansen.

Hansen said although the arrests were made inside two bars, "the cards are definitely not what we call 'house cards' and had nothing to do with the businesses concerned."

The arrests culminated several weeks of investigation in which police had watched the activities of the men involved, Hansen said.

On each $100 card a "skim" of $100 was made to compensate the card circulator for his time. Police explained. The remaining $90 was given out in various amounts, it was understood.

An armed robbery invaded Colombe's Liquors, 307 Linden Avenue, South San Francisco Saturday night and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash.

According to police, the man walked in at 10:30, pulled out a revolver and ordered "Empty the cash bag and give me the money."

Clerks Jeffrey and Christopher Monglich, 17 and 19, complied. They were then ordered to lie on the floor and not move, while the bandit escaped.

$19,000,000

In Building For Pacifica

A total of $19,000,000 in building permits was issued in 1972 by Pacifica building inspector Phil Mayo — 40 per cent higher than in 1971.

In that year, workmen put up $13,483,357 worth of building. In keeping with Pacifica's role as the county's fastest growing city, a total of 247 homes were built at a cost of $6,250,548 during last year. In addition, 227 townhouses were built at a $2,954,708 cost.

Apartment construction continued unabated as permits issued for 33 apartment buildings, containing 454 living units.

Altogether, at least 928 living units were added to Pacifica in 1972.

During the entire year, Pacifica saw virtually no new commercial construction. In February, there were three permits issued for new commercial construction totaling $35,000. There were permits for some 25 commercial additions.

There were about the usual smattering of home remodeling permits issued, plus 93 residential additions.

Boosting the year's total was a million-dollar permit issued for Nick Gust's 92-unit motel in November. In addition, there was a $50,000 permit in October for a veterinary clinic and a $23,000 permit for a pumping station, in December.

$90,000 Lunch

SSF Mayor Defends Expenses

"If a lunch isn't worth $90,000, then I don't know what is," said City Manager Gole Dreisbach. There are even breakfasts and dinners sometimes, Dreisbach added.

You just cannot accomplish everything in an eight-hour day," Dreisbach declared. "You can begin your city business at 7 a.m. and continue straight until midnight, the taxpayer is getting quite a show for his money."

One of the primary purposes of city lunches, however, Dreisbach said, "is developing rapport with your employees or various officials."

A few weeks ago, he cited, he took out to lunch five engineers who came to South San Francisco to look at Colma Creek. He took two more out the next day.

The following week, the city received a $150,000 project from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Mammimi added that since his taking office, he has taken to lunch every department head in the city "to get to know the individual on a personal level."

"I paid for that," he declared. Mammimi said that the $8000 council expense budget was approved by all the councilmen.

"These lunches actually save thousands of dollars," declared City Manager Gole Dreisbach. "There are even breakfasts and dinners sometimes, Dreisbach added."

"If they don't think it a legitimate expense, it should be struck from the budget," he declared. "I'm sure that no one takes advantage of this item or spends it foolishly."

"God knows," Dreisbach added, "I sacrifice a great deal for this job. I would rather be eating lunch or dinner with my own family."

Mammimi also defended the $300 item for a dinner honoring members of city commissions.

"Every year, as long as I can remember, we have held a year-end dinner. It is not only good public relations," he added but it brings out problems that we would have never known."

The $90,000 lunch? Mammimi explained that when state officials are in charge of making traffic safety grants to various police departments came to South San Francisco, they were taken out to lunch, together with police representatives, in order to explain to them the kinds of things which the city wished to do with the grant.

One can accomplish many different kinds of things in such lunches, Dreisbach concluded. It is a matter of communication.

tion officer reports, "his primary problem seems to be too excessive use of alcohol."

Noting that witnesses reported Welch had been driving his car at high speed and in a weaving manner, and was drinking while operating the vehicle, Peters reported that the defendant declined to let anyone else drive. Blood taken from Welch at 2:30 a.m., 3½ hours after the accident showed an alcohol content of .11 per cent, the probation report states.

"This was no ordinary drunk driving accident," the probation officer says in his report. "Three people in the prime of their lives were suddenly destroyed."

In imposing sentence, Judge Ragan recommended that Welch be placed in the county jail work-furlough program, but that he not be permitted to work for his father, a realty firm owner, but as a carpenter, a job for which he has an affinity.

Civil suits totaling more than $5 million have been filed against Welch by the parents of those teenagers killed and injured in the accident.

Storm Hits North

Daly City was reported a swamp in many areas.

Parts of the Coast Highway were flooded throughout its length, police reported, particularly high water was reported in the Vallejo area of Pacifica. Mudslides blocked the Sharp Park Road westbound lanes for a time.

Pacifica police urged residents to stay home until the storm had peaked.

Minor flooding was reported on Half Moon Bay's Grandview Terrace subdivision, a flat area which often has high water.

In San Bruno a police officer had to carry schoolchildren across the swift-flowing, knee-high waters at San Bruno Avenue and El Camino Real.

Cars were stalled as they tried to get through the flooded San Bruno and Angus Avenue intersection. It was shut down to southbound traffic, except for buses.

Mudslides blocked sections of Sneath Lane between 280 and the Skyline and builders were sent crashing down onto the Skyline Boulevard by heavy waters and high winds.

Police as well as the departments already on the run to answer emergency calls and to handle flooded intersections said power outages touched off burglar alarms, adding to the confusion.

In Burlingame and Millbrae similar reports were being made. The worst storm damage was reported by Fireman Mike McCoy whose carport at 604 Lomita Avenue was blown down on his parked car at about 4:30 a.m.

All of the newly-planted beautification trees, a total of several dozen planted along El Camino Real and Broadway in Millbrae the past year were reported blown down.

The Millbrae police dispatcher as well as many others described the storm as, "The worst ever."

Scores of stores reported awnings were ripped apart by the wind and were blowing.

Miles of northbound traffic ground to a dead halt extending from Grand Avenue in South San Francisco to south of Peninsula Avenue by 10 o'clock.

Two northbound lanes were finally opened on the Bayshore freeway and traffic was being re-routed on Old Bayshore boulevard, accounting for the traffic back-up.

Interstate 280 was hard hit by the heavy waters. A 40-foot section of the highway caved in as rains washed away landfill supporting a northbound lane near the Ocean-Geneva avenue exits. Officials blamed unusual amount of water which sent pieces of the roadway sliding down an embankment. No one was injured.

In San Bruno a lumber retaining wall at the intersection of Crestwood and Valleywood where it abuts Interstate 280 was washed out and logs floated onto the highway, adding to critical road conditions.

Floodwaters inundated numerous streets in South San Francisco. Particularly heavy flooding involved several of Pacifica roads. Villa, the Mission road, South Fairway and South Maple areas.

For a while, the Central Terminal Building was dark, until emergency power supplies could be brought into action.

Power was restored to the runway lights by 5:32 a.m., said Roy Samuels, assistant airport director, in charge of operations, until the lightning adding to critical road conditions.

At mid-morning, the huge on-coming airport faced drainage problems, said Samuels, as storm run-off and high tides met along the bay shoreline.

Some roadways in the airport area, were temporarily under water.

San Bruno Man Kidnaped, Shot

A 33-year-old San Bruno man was abducted and shot Monday night by a man who reportedly forced his way into the victim's auto in San Francisco.

According to a report from the Berkeley Police Department, Larry Eads, 2211 Valley Road Drive, stumbled into the police station and told this story.

In San Francisco, an unidentified man managed to get into his car. The man then shoved a pistol into his side.

He was told to get out of the car and to hand over his wallet. After the two of them had driven to the East Bay hills area, Eads was taken to Berkeley's Alta Bates Hospital for treatment of a flesh wound in his side.

Bank Clerk Aids Arrest

An alert bank employee in the Westlake Branch of the Bank of America was credited with aiding Daly City police in the arrest of an alleged female forger.

Police did not identify the employee, who called them after she suspected a San Francisco woman customer was trying to pass forged checks using false identification.

Arrested inside the bank was Marie E. Taylor, 27, of 355 Octavia Street, San Francisco. She is suspected of being connected with a statewide group of check-passers, police said.

The woman entered the bank about 4 p.m. and attempted to cash a check at a teller's window. She is being held in county jail in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Millbrae Debates St. Dunstan Park Site

Four members of the Millbrae City Council and 125 residents last week sifted the ashes of the defeat of a bond issue last November which would have given the city an opportunity to purchase a choice 22-acre site for a park.

Meeting at the city recreation center, because of an overflow attendance, they engaged in a soul-searching inquiry as to why the bond issue, which was supported by a whopping majority, could still not attain the needed two-thirds vote required by law. It had died after winning 61 per cent of the vote.

Except for one or two citizens who suggested, some with bitterness, that the St. Dunstan church property be allowed to be rezoned commercial to bring in the highest tax return, there was agreement and unanimity on a number of postelection reflections: as a parade of speakers went to the microphone:

1. The bond issue should be resubmitted.

2. The electorate should be informed as to what it was buying—that is, not only what land, but also exactly what kind of use would be made of it, and, possibly, when.

3. More people needed to work more vigorously to pass it.

4. Better communication with the newspapers was needed.

5. An in-depth study of various ways of financing not only the acquisition of the property but also its capital improvement should be undertaken. This could include bond issues, revenue sharing, and lease-purchase options.

6. The 22 acres should be acquired before Millbrae becomes overwhelmed in the suburban pattern of little box houses on neat plots of ground.

7. There was a need for various park and recreation improvements. The day has gone when Millbrae youth and adults can find their pleasure and relaxation in Burlingame, San Bruno and San Francisco.

8. Millbrae can afford the purchase.

The bond issue itself—$1,143,000 to purchase the land—was debated. It was suggested that one course might be to take money coming in unexpectedly from the federal revenue-sharing program and apply it to the purchase, reducing it to $700,000 or thereabouts so far as bonds are concerned.

Mayor Bernard Esser, who commented that it was the first time in nine years "that we have all sat down together" on such a matter, outlined exactly what was involved, as he saw it.

It would cost a minimum of $500,000 to develop the property in a swimming pool, tennis court and baseball diamond complex, with the larger proportion of the acreage left to natural ecological park use, he said.

Maximum cost would be $2,500,000 for a complete potential development.

It will just about double the bond price to carry the interest 25 years, as might be expected. Maintenance cost on the athletic fields and park could be estimated at $50,000 to $60,000 a year.

Members of the council added some other points. Harold Purpos said, should the city watch public sale to a developer, the tax gain of $15,000 a year from the property would be more than offset by 125 children then added to the school population, and cost of services to the homes, such as policing, sewerage, etc.

It was pointed out that most of Millbrae's total tax rate of about $9 per thousand is for the school's.

While there is some other open space acreage, it was also pointed out that the city is not suitable for such recreational development.

The SPUR property, a 32-acre strip held for years for transit development and then returned to Millbrae, is not suitable, for example, it was said.

Denial on Rezoning Upheld in Pacifica

More business for Pacifica but not in Fairmont Park.

That was the opinion voiced on January 8 by Councilman Aubrey Lumley as he moved to deny an appeal from Dr. Alan Stewart for a rezoning from single-family residential to neighborhood commercial for a two-acre site along Cabrillo Highway in Fairmont Park.

Dr. Stewart was appealing from a turn-down by the Planning Commission, which felt that the commercial zoning would be detrimental to the residents in the area.

Acting Planning Administrator James M. Norton also cited the undesirable traffic patterns that would result, and the desirability of development of the property as a single-site project. Dr. Stewart wanted to put in three stores.

The council voted unanimously to uphold the Planning Commission. Dr. Stewart was not present.

Councilmen also rejected an appeal from Jack Klassen. The Planning Commission had denied his request to redraw four lots he owned on the south side of Beaumont Boulevard in the Edgemar area to three building sites. Councilmen cited the practice in the area of using two lots for every house site.

Councilmen also upheld the Planning Commission in an appeal from Herman W. Walcott, 664 Edgemar Avenue. Walcott was objecting to the commission's approval of the Milagra Drive quarry permit renewal.

$7,500 Fires In Daly City

A total of $7,500 in damage was inflicted on two Daly City homes, which caught fire Wednesday but were doused by firemen before they were badly damaged.

A fire at 8:30 p.m. at 38 Skyline Drive, inflicted $400 in structural damage and $300 to contents. Tenant Pamela Harris had a frying pan on her stove, and the grease caught fire. Startled, she spilled the hot grease then ran out to the nearest fire alarm.

Damaged were cabinets and kitchen furniture.

At 83 Fleetwood Drive a fire broke out in Elizabeth Buckley's bedroom wastepaper basket. Flames charred the floor and wall and burned a dresser, causing $150 damage to building and contents.

Extensive smoke damage occurred throughout both homes.

Ryan Wins Floor Post

Freshman Congressman Leo Ryan (Dem-SSP) has been named Acting Majority Floor Leader at the request of Thomas "Tip" O'Neill of Massachusetts, Democratic floor leader. Ryan was chosen from a field of 89 freshman congressmen for the post.

"I'm extremely flattered by the honor," Ryan said after learning of the decision.

Two Planners Appointed in Pacifica

There will be a new look on the Pacifica Planning Commission.

Mayor Grace McCarthy Monday announced appointment of two new commissioners who assumed office after the January 15 meeting of the commission. They are Kenneth L. Grobman and Jim Brush.

Grobman, 2 Brooks Place, of the new Park Pacifica neighborhood, came here from Los Angeles 13 months ago. He is a management consultant with the firm of Reel-Grobman and Associates of Burlingame. He has been serving as a Parks Beaches and Recreation commissioner.

"My basic interest in civic affairs," he notes, "comes from living in a large city with no identity to a small community whose problems I can read about in the local newspaper and identify with."

Brush, 557 Moana Way, in the Sharp Park neighborhood, has been serving on the Animal Control Commission, and has been a 10-year veteran of civil defense activities, a past area governor of Toastmasters and vice-president of the Pacifica Dog Fanciers' Club.

He is an electrician, working for the San Francisco firm of Charles B. Farrow Co. for the past 15 years. He has lived in Pacifica for the past 13 years, coming there from Daly City where he was born. He has four children, 10 to 19 years of age. His wife, Eileen, is a volunteer in the new Police Department Reserve.

Also appointed was a youth representative on the Council, Lisa Richmond, 319 Manor Drive, who was appointed by her school, Oceana. Kathy McBride, 71 Oviedo Court, was asked by Terra Nova High to serve a second term.

D.C. Group To Install

Hillside Homeowners Improvement Association of Daly City will hold their installation of officers dinner dance March 3 at the Italian American Social Club in San Francisco. Reservations for the event must be made no later than February 12.

Pot Arrest in South San Francisco

A charge of possession of marijuana was lodged against Robert Joseph Ceinar, 22, of 436 Beech, South San Francisco, by San Bruno police early Sunday morning when he was found asleep in his car on El Camino Real at Interstate 380 on-ramp. Police said Ceinar consented to a search, which produced what appeared to be marijuana.

Building Inspector Quits in S.S.F.

By SACK BIK

In one of the most unusual of the recent series of resignations of South San Francisco city employees, Chief Building Inspector Leonard J. Pittz handed in his resignation last week, effective as of February 1.

Explaining that he wanted "everything out in the open," Mayor Frank Mammimi invited Pittz in to a press conference he was holding on Tuesday, in company with City Manager Gale Dreisbach, administrative aide Otto Hank and Fred Hull, director of the Department of Ecological Development.

"I received your letter last night," Mammimi told Pittz. "It is full of implications. I am tired of hearing this kind of thing. Could you tell us exactly why you are leaving?"

Pittz would only repeat what was in his letter, that the position to which he had been appointed in 1966 was not the same, since creation of the Department of Ecological Development. This department had been created in June of last year when the VTN engineering firm was contracted to take over the engineering and public building inspector Rex Greene works functions of the city.

"I no longer work under the city manager," Pittz commented.

He thus no longer had department head status, he asserted.

"Has the job changed in any way?" Mammimi pursued.

"I no longer have complete authority," he complained. "But I don't want to get into an arguing mess."

City Manager Gale Dreisbach pointed out that when Pittz was appointed to the position, under the then existing organization he was really responsible to the city engineer, not to the manager.

"Somebody just wasn't doing his job," he commented.

He also cited his increased workload. He tried to hire a man, he said, and found the position frozen by the city.

"Then it's a personal thing," Mammimi said.

Named as acting chief building inspector was Ray Ghilardi, a veteran of 21 years. Meanwhile, the position will be advertised, since it is under civil service.

An appointment to fill the vacancy left by resignation of the engineering and public building inspector Rex Greene works functions of the city, is expected by February 1, Pittz said.

"I no longer work under the city manager," Pittz commented.

Council Asks Double Lane In Pacifica

The Division of Highways will spend $107,000 on one Cabrillo Highway project. But still Pacifica residents have expressed their unhappiness to the City Council.

The problem seemed to be that it is just too dangerous for Pacifica residents coming home at night to make that left turn onto the street leading into their homes.

The project will provide signals and a left turn lane, long enough for five cars, into the new Fessler Avenue, soon to be open for traffic. Left turn movements from Cabrillo Highway into Seabowl Drive, however, will be eliminated.

The highway, for 600 feet north and south of that point, will be widened.

The first objection came from Ken Royce, owner of the Sea Bowl, and the man who is financing much of the Fessler Avenue project. Mayor Grace McCarthy replied that the right turn from Sea Bowl onto the highway will remain, and that the bowl could be entered from both Fessler and Roberts Road.

The major objections came from Ellie Maguire, 865 Big Bend Drive.

"We're going to have more rear-end collisions than ever before," she asserted. She expressed fear of drivers in the stacking lane having the rear end of their cars sticking out into traffic.

Emory Lebonville of Moana Drive asked if Royce would reimburse the city the $7,000 it will spend on the project. (The answer was "no.")

Jerry Neufeld of Fessler Avenue said his wife was in traction from her car being hit in the rear when she was making a similar left turn on Linda Mar Boulevard.

Mayor McCarthy noted that the Division of Highways had turned down the city's request for a double left turn lane. However, the council agreed to adopt a resolution formally requesting a double left turn lane at the Fessler Drive intersection.

San Bruno Solicitation Is Approved

A request to solicit money within the city of San Bruno was approved on January 8 by the city council. Solicitation will take place from January 12 through 26.

The request, made by Andrew Ruiz, recreation instructor who teaches at Skyline College, is to attempt to raise $3,000 to help the San Francisco Center for the Handicapped back into full operation.

During the months of November and December, the center was vandalized three times, with damage estimated at $25,000.

Ruiz explained in a letter that because of the specialized use of the equipment at the center, donations of equipment would not be appropriate. He said the need is for money to replace the equipment.

According to Ruiz, students in his class at Skyline took on a project to raise $3,000 toward that end, hence the request to solicit funds.

Homesick Mother Hangs Self

A homesick young mother died Thursday afternoon when she apparently tied a yellow electrical cord around a pipe in the garage of her South San Francisco home, and hung herself.

She was Gislinde Christal Baldissari, 30, 852 Alta Loma Drive. Her body was discovered when her seven-year-old daughter, Gina, tried to get into the house and failed. The girl then called her father who had been separated from her mother. With a friend, he gained entry—and made the discovery.

According to the San Mateo County coroner's office, Mrs. Baldissari had made three previous attempts at suicide. Although she had left notes at the previous attempts, no note was found this time.

The coroner said that Mrs. Baldissari was homesick for the old country. She was born in Germany, and her parents live in Denmark.

Her husband dropped by each morning to leave his car so that she could use it to drive to the mental health clinic.

A generous $35,000 grant from the James Irvine Foundation will enable the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, to supply power for its camping and training facilities at Cutter Scout Reservation near the Big Basin Redwood State Park.

Notification that the Council's application for a grant was approved by the California-based foundation was received by Albert J. Horn, Council president. The grant will provide for the installation of a generator system at the 760-acre wilderness Scout reservation.

"We are indeed grateful to the James Irvine Foundation for this generous support which will help to advance the development of our 'close in' camping and training facility," said Horn in announcing the event. "Use of Cutter by Scouts and non-Scouts is increasing each year. This gift will enable us to install a generator system that will provide adequate power for all of the program areas as well as for the Harkness Conference Center at Cutter."

The Cutter acreage was purchased in 1969 with funds bequeathed to the local Council by the late William S. Cutter, a wilderness camp within relatively close proximity to their homes.

The new reservation replaced Ed Barrer Reservation, a high Sierra camp, and made available to county area Scouts a wilderness camp within relatively close proximity to their homes.

Doubleday Exec Is Reviewer

The program will blend the modern "lighter" type of jazz and the graceful jazz-rock dance talents of another former Westmoor student, Darlene McCormick. Darlene was Miss Dance of Northern California in 1970 and the winner of the American Ballet Theater scholarship in 1971. She is currently dancing with the San Francisco State University Ballet Company where she is one of the featured soloists.

Sharing the top billing with Miss California and Miss Dance will be a novel, see-through drums set which will be introduced at the concert, the versatile electronic piano on loan to Westmoor from Skyline College, and several talented young musicians including Larry Sholin, George Frazer, Steve Murray, Bob Brand, John Schoolcraft, Mer Leano and Kurt Talbot. Featured vocalist will be Kathy Wright who will perform with the Swing Choir.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks. Not that we needed to have it confirmed, but the latest report from Washington tells us that, "spurred by the greatest rise in costs of farm products in 25 years, wholesale prices in December registered their sharpest one-month increase since 1951."

This is the kind of news that makes us grab the recipe books and start looking for low cost dishes. I have two such recipes to share with you.

EASY EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

- 1 large eggplant
- 2 eggs, beaten
- bread crumbs
- 1 8 oz. can tomato sauce
- 1 8 oz. can Marinara sauce
- Mozzarella cheese
- Parmesan cheese, grated
- Oil for frying

Peel and slice eggplant about 1/2-inch thick. Beat the two eggs; dip eggplant into eggs and then coat with bread crumbs. In a frying pan cook slices in hot oil until crisp on both sides. Combine the can of tomato sauce and can of Marinara sauce. Arrange a layer of eggplant in large casserole dish. Top each slice with sliced Mozzarella cheese, spoon sauce over top and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese; repeat ending with cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes. Remove cover for last 10 minutes. Serves 6.

NOTE: You may substitute a 15-ounce can of Marinara sauce for the two smaller cans tomato and Marinara sauce.

- 1 1/2 cups dairy sour cream
- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 2 Tablespoons chopped chives, if desired
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

Cook the three cups zucchini in the half cup boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt in covered saucepan 5 minutes or until tender. Drain. Beat the two egg yolks slightly; add the one and one-half cups sour cream, 1 teaspoon salt, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons chives and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. In large mixing bowl; beat egg whites with the one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Fold into sour cream mixture.

Place half the zucchini in pastry-lined pan; cover with half the sour cream mixture. Top with remaining zucchini; then with remaining sour cream mixture. Sprinkle with the cheese-bread crumb mixture.

Bake at 400-degrees for 10 minutes; then 325-degrees for 40 to 50 minutes until knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean.

A combination of zucchini, eggs and sour cream baked in a rich cheese crust was a prize winner in a recent Bake-off.

ZUCCHINI CHEESE PUFF

- 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar or Swiss cheese
- 2 Tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 2 Tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- one-third cup butter
- 3 to 4 Tablespoons milk

OVE N400-DEGREES, 6 SERVINGS.

Combine the one half cup Cheddar cheese with the two tablespoons Parmesan cheese; reserve 1/4 cup. Combine remaining cheese with one-half cup bread crumbs and two tablespoons melted butter; set aside. Combine one cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon each salt and baking powder in small mixing bowl. Cut in one-third cup butter and reserved 1/4 cup cheese mixture until mixture is size of small peas. Sprinkle 3 to 4 tablespoons milk over mixture, stirring with fork until dough is moist enough to hold together. Firm into a ball. Flatten to 1/2-inch thickness; smooth edge. Roll out on floured surface to a circle 1 1/2-inches larger than inverted 9-inch piepan. Fit into pan. Fold edge to form a standing rim; flute. Chill while preparing the filling.

ZUCCHINI FILLING

- 3 cups sliced zucchini
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 eggs, separated

HERE'S WHAT DISCOUNT WITH A DIFFERENCE MEANS

Our Discount with a Difference program offers money-saving prices on the wide variety of high quality meats, produce and other foods which helped to build Safeway's reputation.

When we converted to discount, we made sweeping changes in operating methods. These changes, which included new pricing methods and the elimination of unnecessary merchandising expenses, reduced our cost of doing business. Our savings were immediately reflected in substantial price reductions. We introduced our every day low level prices which helped to make the discount program so popular and effective. With low prices in effect all week long, there was no longer need to postpone shopping until the week end. Low level prices gave our customers added incentive to buy from us all of their food needs. With shopping spread more uniformly throughout the week and throughout the store, our whole business became more efficient. We streamlined ordering, stocking and price marking. We increased checkstand efficiency and lessened the possibility of errors at check out.

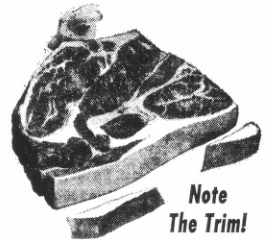

Savings in our costs of doing business continue to be reflected in the prices of things we sell. Shop Safeway for the finest foods and a low total food bill. That's Discount with a Difference.

Girl Scouting

JUNIOR TROOP 2561 recently toured Mary's Help Hospital with Bette Myerson, public relations officer, to present gifts to the patients and learn of the offered community services.

LED BY Mrs. Luis Rivara's Cadette Troop 43, entertainment was provided recently at a patient facility in Daly City. Mrs. Ned Hardin led the singing and the co-leaders, Mesdames Leroy Bering and Andrew Skirra assisted.

Jeane and Joan Anderson, Deborah Bell, Monica Bering, Maureen Bortorelli, Michele Bignardi, Marcia Bowdish, Patricia Byrne, Seona Connolly, Marian Fitzpatrick, Maureen Kennedy, Mari Kirrane, Robert Kossick, Paul Marini, Nancy Noonan, Valerie Rivas, Pam Ruggiero, Michele Sans and Barbara and Rosemarie Skirra also made tray favors for the patients.

JIM SCOTT has been recently appointed by West Bay chairman Al Schwarzbach to lead the Daly City fund-raising membership enrollment campaign for Girl Scouting. An Ocean Avenue garage-owner with a wife and two daughters actively involved in Scouting, Jim is now recruiting his group of "Dads for Daughters."

His present list of troop "Captains Courageous" will include men or women from each Daly City Girl Scout troop by the January 20 kickoff date.

A self-confessed hunting enthusiast who has been known to "decorate" his house with all forms of trophies including a black bear rug from a 450-pound animal, he shares his hobbies with the dryest retirement on four feet who manages to send Jim to get the birds, and a stuffed Russian bear and Mauna Kea sheep from Hawaii.

Jim is one of North County's most enthusiastic Scouting supporters, firmly believing that parents who do not contribute financially to Scouting during the campaign are just not aware of how much it costs to provide these benefits to their daughters.

"Scouting is a 60-year-old program based on an ethical code, time-tested and kept in step with changing times," he recently stated in this newspaper. Parents must give their support so the council can provide leadership, training, camping, opportunities of the in- and out-of-doors for their girls to continue in the progression of Scouting skills, he feels. Jim, as an avid outdoorsman himself, wants to see his daughters grow into the type of adults who enjoy the outdoor life and seek Scouting as a wonderful way for them to achieve this goal.

CLOSED FOR the January EXAMINATION period, the Parkview-Peoria Taskforce, project, manned by college students, will reopen in February if at all possible.

The program, designed to give alternative forms of leadership to children in the inner Daly City area where adults seem hard-pressed to handle Scout troops, uses college students to provide this responsible communication.

Several troops have built upon the interest generated in the area by the Taskforce program and adults or college students with a few hours' free time are urged to contact the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout office in Brisbane, 467-3330, and inquire of Mrs. Ruth Metzger as to opportunities.

In February Mrs. Joyce Scramaglia will supervise Parkview and Mrs. Helen More will continue at Peoria. The planning committee includes Mesdames Louise Courpel, Nancy Dahlberg, Jeanne Kennedy, Virginia Nowicki, Joyce Scramaglia and Roz Morino. Student recruiting will be handled by Mesdames Scramaglia, Kennah and Dahlberg.

State Senator Arlen Gregorio will be the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Coastside California Republican Assembly. The meeting will be held at Pacifica's Oceana High School in room 29 this Thursday. Senator Gregorio will speak from 9 to 9 p.m. The general and State Courts will be open to the public.

Some of the topics the senator will discuss will be the "Devil's Slide By-pass," Highway 380, and the outcome of Prop. 20 (the Coastside measure). Mario Torrigno, first vice president in charge of program for the CCRA, said there also will be a question and answer period.

Councilman Harland Minshew also will be a speaker at the meeting. He will speak on the possibility of a county jail in north San Mateo County.

Mexican Wedding Trip

A home in Burlingame awaits Mr. and Mrs. Rick Piercy who are honeymooning in Mexico after their marriage Saturday afternoon at All Souls Catholic Church. The 4 p.m. rites were followed by a reception at the South San Francisco Elks Club.

The new Mrs. Piercy is the former Donna Fontana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fontana of Woodside. She is an alumna of South San Francisco High School and is now employed as a court reporter.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Piercy of Daly City. He was graduated from Westmoor High School, and has served with the United States Navy.

Maid of honor for her new sister-in-law was Donna Piercy of Daly City. Secondary attendants included Jan Caron of San Carlos and Nancy Pariani of South San Francisco, the bride's cousins, and Linda Jareguel of Chico and Stevanne Ellis of Daly City.

Best man duties were performed by Tony Sooklaris of Daly City. Robert Fontana of Woodside, Donna's brother, seated guests with Tony Sooklaris and Tom Bocci of Daly City, Jeff Kearney of Colma and Pete Maniates of South San Francisco.

The new matron is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jarman. Her husband's grandparents are Mrs. Sue Piercy and Mrs. Hazel Thompson.

Consumer Protection

Filling the position of a consumer protection specialist to coordinate the county's consumer protection services was authorized January 9 by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

The position was authorized by the board in the 1972-73 county budget, but was "frozen" until a plan for a county-wide consumer protection program could be submitted.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes reported to the board that one of the persons carrying the classification of sanitarian in the County Health and Welfare Department who have been sharing the consumer protection duties will be promoted to the new job at a slightly higher salary. The vacated sanitarian post will be deleted.

Among the duties of the specialist will be to follow up and investigate complaints and suspected violations which fall into the realm of the Environmental Health Division of the Health and Welfare Department.

Savage Guided JESD Growth

What did they say?
Not name a school building for William J. Savage! He was the man who took the fledgling Jefferson District and guided its growth from one small building into multiple school districts, and served it longer than any of its administrators.

They said they wanted a name more in time with the times. Yet, Superintendent Savage laid a cornerstone for the present times upon which the Jefferson District rests. His fight for progressive education as the direction for the Jefferson District followed prompted the historian, Roy Cloud, to write, "Mr. Savage has fully measured up to all the requirements of the positions which he has held, and he stands in the forefront of the educational circles of San Mateo County, being widely recognized as an able, conscientious, and progressive educator."

"I think Mr. Savage caught a vision of what the Jefferson District would become," wrote one of his teachers, now retired. "He was always planning a new school or a big project." He was a thinker. To this day many people who knew him remember that he seemed forever surrounded by plans and blueprints.

IN 1919, WHEN teachers were slowly changing from the McGuffey readers and Webster's Spelling Book, Savage, who was trained to teach social studies, wrote a book entitled "Forward Looking Lessons in United States History." Its concepts were so far advanced that 10 years after its publication date, it was being used in all the public schools of California and still may be influencing California educators. Who, then, can say his name is not relevant? Who can argue that the name of some warrior, statesman, or inventor is more relevant?

They called him an old fogey. Yet he stood for our present kind of education when Dewey, Counts, Kirkpatrick and their colleagues were laying its foundations.

As Maeser wrote, Savage believed "The school is a step preparatory for practical life. Success in life can be achieved only by knowledge and control of all the forces that bear upon one's sphere of action. The teacher, therefore, as one who prepares pupils for life, must aim to develop them in both these directions, that is, he must furnish the minds of his pupils with requisite information, and create their power." Does this sound like an old fogey? It is as modern as today's journal.

SOME TIME AGO this column joined with Daly City Senior citizens in suggesting that the administration building of the Jefferson Elementary District be named for William J. Savage. We still think it's a good idea. Why not shift the name of the administration district to the new junior high school and assign William J. Savage's name to the administration building?

Youngster Has Better Chance

As a youngster exposed to the arts in grammar school, I thought Standard Oil of California was the Big Daddy who paid for everything. I guess I thought they owned the Opera House as I listened to the radio symphony broadcasts with my head on folded arms at my desk.

Today a youngster has a better chance of developing his creative interests, if only parents would encourage and promote his attendance and participation. Being economically deprived and culturally deprived often go hand in hand but not always. There are free music programs all over the Bay Area and a growing concern by industry and charitable organizations to make the arts accessible to everyone. That includes promoting and sponsoring artists to developing new audiences.

CAMPUS, after one year of behind-the-scenes support, is now addressing itself to the community at large and has stepped into the cultural void with a broadly based program that will encompass all the arts. Gallery owners, artists, Herb Hoover, who is also active in music circles and is a member of the California Arts Commission, is the non-profit corporation's president. John Kornfield, who presides most of the top music and dance attractions in the area, is vice president.

Its title is shortened from "California Arts and Music Program Underwriting Scholarship" established for the culturally deprived, meaning children, young adults and senior citizens. It will give emergency aid to the deserving, help launch professional careers of painters, sculptors, musicians, and fine-art photographers and assist with professional introductions into the world of art shows and concert-hall recitals.

Their immediate project is to underwrite the first student matinee ever of American Ballet Theatre on March 5 at 1:30 p.m. by offering regular $10.50 tickets for $4.50 and $3.50 for "Giselle" ballet with full orchestra.

The public may not understand that the full price must be paid, which means donation from individuals. There is no way the ballet company or the local promoter can claim the difference as a write-off. The balance must be made up in cash.

A special student matinee is also slated for Bunko, Japan's classic puppet theater from Osaka which features a combination of song, text, costumed and manipulated four feet high puppets, scenery and musical accompaniment. This is for $3.00 a seat on March 7 and 8 at 1:30 p.m. at Nourse Auditorium.

CAMPUS made California painter William Rabinovich its first visual arts scholarship recipient. He has since received a substantial year's grant from the Whitney Foundation.

The group was able to secure two National Endowment Grants that went to the Joffrey Ballet ($12,999) and American Ballet Theatre ($20,000) enabling these two great American companies to come to San Francisco's Opera House for a week's residency from New York and while here, to hold open rehearsals for advanced dance students and teachers.

The famous Russian ballerina Natalia Makarova and San Francisco's star dancer Cynthia Gregory will head the American Ballet Theatre company due here from March 4 through 11 doing "Giselle," "Sea Change," "Intermezzo," "The Maids," and "Rodeo." "Swan Lake" and "Coppelia" with Makarova will also be performed.

The Day Electors Violated Their Trust

We had come from across the state to elect a President. There were 28 of us—a sum "equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives" to which the state was entitled in Congress.

As I looked about the room I recognized all of the faces. Carefully selected, the group included blacks, a Chinese, some with Spanish surnames, party workers, a few office holders, and a number of women.

The people had not voted for Sam Baker, the President-elect, in this election of 1964, but for a list of electors, were those electors, and now we met to carry out the perfunctory task of putting the State of East Carolina's electoral votes in the Baker column.

Four months earlier Sam Baker had looked like a sure winner. But 120 days had done terrible things to his safe lead. On election night the nation had had to wait for the Illinois returns to be fully counted before knowing the winner.

Sam Baker, who had seemed a certain thing, had barely won. His numerical majority was less than 303,000 votes and he had only exceeded the magic number of 270 electoral votes by five. Without East Carolina he wouldn't have won.

Our very function as electors was the result of Constitutional happenstance. Originally, the electors were to be men of stature, who gathered in solemn and thoughtful enclaves to exercise independent judgment in selecting the best possible man. As time went on, Presidents and Vice Presidents came to be elected by popular vote in the several states, with the electors merely serving to pass along the declared will of the people. What had been a discretionary act had become purely ministerial, and each year the members of the Electoral College gathered in one of 50 state capitols for a pleasant but meaningless ceremony.

Over the years there had been some surprises. In 1968 an elector pledged to Richard Nixon in North Carolina had ignored his obligation and had cast a ballot for George Wallace, and in 1972, a Virginia elector bolted and cast a protest vote.

Some states, including California, had passed laws that could have an elector to vote for the candidate he sponsored. Others, including East Carolina, had not. That day, sitting in huge leather chairs of the State Senate chambers, we enjoyed a sensation of influence, and even power, knowing all the while that we were mere ciphers.

A clerk distributed several papers for signatures, and we signed oaths and lists. Then, with the governor presiding, came the vote. Ballots were distributed, each bearing a number and a signature line. Printed in large and legible letters were the names Samuel M. Baker, and the word President. I carefully signed mine.

Tellers had been elected previously, and they moved about the great chairs collecting ballots. As this was being done, several members of our group casually left the room. The man next to me, whom I knew only vaguely, said he had to wash his hands and crossed in front of me.

The tellers were our two youngest members, and they sat at a table in the corner counting ballots. One beckoned toward the Governor and an aide quietly walked over. As this was happening, the governor called for the count of ballots. The head teller tensely announced, "Twenty-one for Sam Baker."

Twenty-one? There were twenty-eight of us—who hadn't voted? Then, in a shaking voice the teller shouted, "And seven for Easton Caldwell!"

From that moment, my memory is not fully reliable. I do recall the rush to the tellers' desk and seeing the governor carefully recount each ballot.

On seven ballots the name of Samuel Baker had been crossed out, and the name of his opponent, Easton Caldwell, carefully written in. There could be no mistake, seven ballots had been cast for Easton Caldwell.

Seven of our friends had left the room, and as it turned out, left the country. Their plane was, by the time we sought them, on its way from East Carolina and America. Weeks later, after the civil disturbances had quieted down, and martial law had ended, the essential facts became known.

In the Supreme Court ruling declaring Baker elected, the broad outline of what had happened that day was related. It hadn't been very expensive—for 14 million dollars (two million each plus transportation) Easton Caldwell had bought the Presidency. Had not one of the seven repented and surrendered to a United States Embassy, the truth might never have been known.

At a press conference, held 8,000 miles away from Washington, the young elector described in detail the arrangements that had been made. Asked why he had done such a thing, he said, "The money sounded good and easy, and it seemed to me that any nation that relied on the electoral system deserved whatever happened."

The Public Voice

Editor, The Post:

Your article on January 3, entitled, "Plumbers Argue Water Peril to Area" was most interesting and calls for comment. It quoted Thomas J. Hunter, business manager for the Plumbers and Steam Fitters' Union, Local 467, saying that "constant lowering of the public safety standards" in the Uniform Plumbing Code over the last few years has created the present situation, and that "only licensed plumbers should be allowed to work on new plumbing systems."

I would suggest that Mr. Hunter clean his own house first to see that his own licensed plumbers perform the work they are paid for in a workmanlike manner before he complains about unauthorized persons doing plumbing work. I might also suggest that the same would apply to some licensed electricians and other crafts.

A few examples of shoddy work encountered in my own home should serve to confirm the above statement.

1. A drainpipe from the toilet which was cracked during installation was patched with a piece of tin instead of being replaced. The result was a rotted out bathroom floor.

2. Several instances of improper soldering of copper tubing caused leakage of pipes.

3. Absence of clean-outs in drain pipes and absence of unions in water lines as prescribed by code.

4. Electrical outlets not connected, bare wires left in the attic where junction boxes plates left off the junction boxes.

The Uniform Plumbing Code is entirely adequate for both residential and industrial use. Our real problem is obtaining craftsmen who will construct to that code.

Editor, The Post:

Not so long ago, Brisbane residents could enjoy swimming in the bay within walking distance from their homes. Our children still enjoy the bay but, to reach it, they now have to drive 14 miles to San Mateo's Coyote Point Beach. The culprits? The California State Division of Highways which blocked off Brisbane's beaches by placing the Bayshore Freeway right at the bay front without any provisions for recreational access.

Now this same agency is about to deal Brisbane another environmental blow. They plan to spend a fortune making a freeway out of the old Bayshore road so that the cars can travel 70 instead of 45 miles per hour! Right now many Brisbane residents are using this road to walk or bicycle to Daly City or South San Francisco, although neither sidewalks nor bikepaths are provided. After the freeway completion this will be impossible and Brisbane might then be the only city in the world which may only be reached by car. Old Bayshore Road is in terrible condition. Any "improvements" would only benefit the truckers servicing the Pacific Pipelines Tank-farm, which pays Brisbane $8000 per year in taxes. That meager sum doesn't even cover road damage, let alone fire and police protection. We would much rather see the money spent on some sorely needed improvements on our city streets!

We are going to initiate a petition to the California Highway Division—not to stop this project—but to withhold any funds unless safe provisions are made for pedestrians and bicycles and for access to the now barricaded Brisbane beaches.

'Colma's Finest' In the News

COLMA'S FINEST is in the news again. This time for getting caught speeding through South City. According to one Officer Metcalf, Colma Police Chief Raymond Ottoboni Jr. was whizzing along at about 40 miles per, in a 25-mile per zone, near a school. The chief was reportedly in civilian clothing and driving a private car when stopped. Attempts to have the citation quashed were unsuccessful, this column learned, and it is feared that the chief, who recently cited Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrovich's daughter for excessive speed in Colma, may have to shut out in the neighborhood of $24.

GETTING A SPEEDING ticket isn't unusual. We know of a North County muni judge who once got a ticket in San Francisco, as did we (twice). Like the judge, we bit the bullet and paid. Unsmilingly to be sure, but we paid without trying to "reach" someone. Now we hear that the person who is expected to set an example, to enforce the law of the land, to carry out his duties fairly and honestly, is trying to circumvent the very laws he is assigned to carry out. Wow!

TWO FRESHMAN LAWMAKERS were in town over the past weekend—Cong. Leo J. Ryan is having his troubles in Good Old Washington, D.C. The cold, the housing, and getting used to the lay of the land.

"I really miss this place," Ryan lamented during an interview at the Hyatt House in Burlingame this week. . . . Assemblyman Louis J. Papan, on the other hand, said he "loves the job" in Sacramento. He makes it home every weekend.

NOW THAT most folks are making their dogs behave either in their own yards or, at least, depositing the dog's behavior where folks don't have to trip the light fantastic around it, isn't it about time an all-out crackdown was initiated against those cars roaming the streets? Not only are they tearing up backyards in their ferocious eagerness to keep the area neat, they howl their heads off half the night.

BIG MOVE underway in Brisbane to disincorporate that city and maybe hook up with Daly City. One of the chief participants in the action is City Councilman Dr. S. J. Guardino.

SCOOP OF SORTS—Franklin Mieuil, owner of the Golden State Warriors' basketball team (as if you didn't know, left his wallet behind in a Brisbane phone booth. As if that isn't news enough for you, here's the next part of the story: A worried citizen found it and dropped it by the Police Department, which immediately contacted Forgetful Franklin. There wasn't a dime in the wallet Mieuil was told, to which he replied, "I never carry money, I don't need cash." But you can bet there was a fistful of credit cards therein. Our Source tells.

D.C. COUNCILMAN Victor Kyriakis is clearing out his San Francisco office and moving his law offices to 15 Southgate, Daly City.

LOTTA TALK GOING around that South City Councilman Gordon Bobbitt is a shareholder in a company headed by Florentino Rosa, now trying to get a $24,000 subsidy from the city after only four months of operation. Not so, says Bobbitt. As a matter of fact his only connection with Rosa was as a very minor shareholder (about two percent) along with his wife in a San Francisco venture some years ago.

They are good friends, Bobbitt admits, but points out that he is an elected official and Rosa will be given the same consideration that any other citizen is afforded.

WHILE DALY CITY police were knocking over that "crime syndicate" which was pushing around a football pool card, this cautious citizen was trying to drum up interest in participating in a pool (no betting, honest to zosh) to pick out the time the boss' wife, Nina, would have the couple's third child. John Clinton happily reported Nicole Ann, waived into this shakeup at a few minutes after 5 p.m. Friday at 7 pounds 8 ounces. Thus we lost another watermelon placed with organized crime here in the North County.

AT THE RATE these vice crackdowns are occurring it won't be long before a password will be required in order for a person to enter those non-existent (censored) games held weekly at (censored).

SPEAKING OF LAW 'N' ORDER in Daly City: Crime is on the increase in the Mission Street area—at least cases of violent crimes. Perhaps a sub-station is in order, some merchandises are suggesting. We don't think so! The D.C. police are among the finest in the state, considering the budget they operate with. What the city does need, however, are fewer swimming pools and more cops. It ain't gonna do those folks getting mugged upon Mission Street much good, even if they can swim.

Our never-taken advice is to scrap some of those projects and figure out how to use the money to get more cops on the street. It can be done. After all, the steps were pulled out when a way was needed to find money for that BART parking garage.

NOW THERE'S a big decision the D.C. City council has to make whether to perpetuate that Citizens Advisory Committee on Redevelopment or disband it. Why not disband it? This is not to say some of the members cannot be reapointed to another committee—call the new committee what you will—but that might win more confidence of the people affected by the mere hint of redevelopment.

IT IS MORE EVIDENT DAILY that the 25 member DCR Advisory Committee has lost the confidence of those in the so-called "target area" of development. It is further evident that they have done everything that they believe can be done in laying the groundwork for redevelopment and/or rehabilitation. And they did the real deed, too, all things considered. Admittedly, this group of citizens who gave of their time and effort on behalf of the ENTIRE community (we all pay taxes) was formed in the first place as a buffer between the taxpayer and City Hall. Now it is time for them to bid adieu and, if redevelopment goes through, to appoint new blood.

The Post gives its columnists a great deal of latitude, offering its readers the benefit of knowledgeable, varying opinion. Their opinions are not necessarily those of The Post which addresses itself to its readers only through clearly marked editorials.

Warriors' New Court Image

By JERRY LITTELL

Post Correspondent

Always one of the highest scoring teams around, South San Francisco has never-less seldom been known for its shooting abilities.

With the run-and-shoot offense that has characterized the Warriors' attack for many years, it really wasn't necessary to have anyone capable of hitting beyond six feet. But the times, they are a-changin'.

Friday's impressive win over Westmoor meant several things to SSF, and the least of which was the fact the Warriors have arrived as a good outside shooting team. The 64-32 victory gave South City a share of the North Peninsula League lead with Serramonte and it also was the fifth straight game in which the Warriors shot over 50 per cent from the floor.

"For years we have been attacking the Westmoor zone by going inside," said Warriors coach Gene Mullin, "mainly because we couldn't shoot outside. But this year we changed our offensive thinking against them, went to our outside shots and it was fairly successful."

"Fairly effective" is an understatement as far as forward Al Dunn is concerned. The bulky underclassman, only the second sophomore to start for a Warrior team in the past eight years, whittled the Westmoor zone for 24 game-high points, many of which came from 15 to 18 feet. His outside touch seemed to spark similar accomplishments from guard Mark Hillsinger and forward Chris Vance, who helped the Warriors to a 54 per cent floor total.

Inside, center Lynn Simmons had a successful night against a series of Westmoor pivot men. Westmoor center Leo Biedermann, who missed the past eight days with bronchitis, made a brief and at times successful appearance, scoring 10 points but fouling out with Westmoor trailing by two in the second period. After he left, the Warriors pulled steadily away until they had built up a 14-point lead in the fourth period.

SERRAMONTE 75, TERRA NOVA 49

The Regents kept pace with a second half spurge that carried them to their twelfth win of the year against one loss and their fourth consecutive conference win.

Leading by only eight at intermission over a Terra Nova team that has lost 13 straight this year, Serramonte, with Dennis Sims and Pete Juand hitting for 14 points in the third period, carved out a 22-point quarter and never had a problem after that. Guard Kirk Dove got 20 points but his biggest asset was a slick and heady passing ability that set up his teammates for numerous shots.

JEFFERSON 51, EL CAMINO 45

Center Harold Norman got his usual 20-point game, but against the El Camino

Colts Friday it was the smart play of guard Bruce Olmanson that actually keyed the win over the Colts.

It was a tight battle for almost three full periods until Olmanson went to work stealing the ball near the end of their third period, setting up Norman for five consecutive points and generally creating havoc for the Colt ball handlers.

El Camino's last gasp came with the score 40-37 just into the fourth period. Olmanson hit Norman for a fast-break lay-in, stole the ball and fed the Jefferson center for a three-point play and stole the ball one more time to utterly frustrate the fading Colts.

OCEANA 72, HALF MOON BAY 51

The Half Moon Bay zone didn't seem to bother Oceana's offense much as the Sharks contentedly fired away from the outside and if they hit, okay, and if they missed, it was still okay, because center Art Thomas dominated everything within an acre of the bucket, tipping his way to a 26-point evening.

Ken Welch got eight quick points outside the Cougar zone in the first quarter and Steve Baird fired away for 10 in the final quarter in the two periods that did the most damage to the winless Cougars. In between times, Half Moon Bay tried a full-court press but it usually meant a fast break for the Sharks, now 2-2 and heading for a possible play-off berth.

Cavaliers Outduel Marines

In the Six Foot and Under Division of the Daly City Adult Three Man Hunch League the San Bruno Cavaliers out-duelled the San Bruno Marines, 40-19. Balanced scoring was the name of the game for the Cavaliers as Super Flys picked up an easy Gil Avacedo, G. Hansen and D. Broecker scored 16, 12 and 12 points respectively. The No Names did a turn around and led the game. Rich Shafer led all scorers as he scored 14 points for the losers. Bill Wotkowski did an excellent job on the boards for the Odd Squad. In other action the Super Flys picked up an easy win as the Creamers did not rise to the occasion and lost.

Art White led all scorers as he contributed 22 points to the No Names' cause. The Odd Squad kept pace with the No Names by crushing the Leapin Lizards 41 to 16. Roy Reitz and jumpin' Joe Skarr led all scorers as they each contributed 12 points to the Odd Squad's totals.

Something had to give. It wasn't much, but it was enough to send Serra High's basketball team to a nerve-racking 39-37 overtime loss to Rindard Friday in San Francisco.

The defeat is the Padres' second against one win in West Catholic Athletic League competition. Both have come on the road, with a combined point spread of five. The notorious WCAL home court advantage is no myth.

Serra led twice in the overtime, on a free throw and short jumper by junior forward Buzz Harnett. Crusader guard Greg Bond sandwiched Harnett's scores with a pair of baskets, for a one-point margin.

After the Padres missed two shots in the last minute that could have put them in the lead, Rindard's Rick Lee was fouled with nine seconds left.

He made the first, and missed the second Harnett rebounded and outleted to Joe Appenrodt. He dribbled up to the midcourt line, on the left side and shipped a pass to Ron Jackson, open just beyond the top of the free-throw circle.

Look at the one they got at the end!" That came with 17 seconds left in regulation. Rindard's John Pachetti missed a short jumper, then followed in his own rebound to tie the game.

"That was a key play," said Broccoli. "If we get the rebound, we win. It was a great effort by them." Pachetti was fouled on the play, but missed the free throw.

John Caselli rebounded a missed Padre shot under the basket with two seconds left. He went right back up in heavy traffic. His follow was blocked as the buzzer went off.

Clemente's Induction

We may be everybody's villain for saying this, but Roberto Clemente shouldn't be inducted into the Hall of Fame early, and his bust shouldn't enter the Hall until at least five years hence, when he will be formally eligible by the rules set down by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

It is not that we have anything against Clemente and his family. He was a great player and a humanitarian and loved kids and his death was tragic and we are saddened by it. What we have against the possible premature induction is that it will probably bump at least one legitimately eligible player — probably still living — who may not be living the next time his chance comes up.

The living should be served before the dead. Clemente's memory and his family can now afford the five year wait. He will make it, no doubt. He would have made it five years after his retirement had he not died. But some players are what might be called borderline Hall of Famers, and they should have the chance at the glory while they're still alive and can enjoy it.

THE LOU Gehrig case is NOT a genuine precedent. Gehrig was alive when the normal rules were suspended to induct him prematurely in 1939. It was known that Gehrig had very little time to live, and his early induction was proper because it allowed him time to enjoy the honor while he WAS alive.

Joe Heiling, president of the BBWAA, gave a weak argument for Clemente's possible early induction. "We felt," he said, "that Clemente, like Sandy Koufax and Stan Musial, would be a first-ballot inductee, so why wait?"

Using that line of reasoning, why should any great player ever have to wait five years to be inducted if it seems "obvious" that he would make it on the first ballot?

Although the crowd noise prevented anybody from hearing it.

A jumper by Appenrodt and a breakaway lay-in by Berriatua gave Serra a two-point lead with under a minute to play in the last quarter.

The Padres were even in the process of running out the remaining time when Harnett appeared to be tripped on the baseline by a Rindard defender. He was called for traveling.

Berriatua's masterful driving brought Serra six-point leads twice in the early going, but Rindard came back to tie at half. Tenacious, unbending man-to-man defenses by both teams kept the game a thriller the rest of the way.

Neither team committed many turnovers or made many mistakes. The Padres had a particularly bad night from the field, but Rindard evened that out with the same kind of effort from the line.

Berriatua led all scorers with 14, the only player to hit double figures. Harnett had nine, and three Crusaders finished with eight.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Elton Paris All-Time Finocchio Club Favorite

Willow Elton Paris, who began his show business career in USO clubs during World War II, is one of the all-time favorites at Finocchio's spa of female impersonators. Elton's droll humor, unusual costuming and individualized style of dancing make him a hit in the colorful shows, which are presented four times nightly.

Tom Conwilliams, who has 37 years cooking experience, is the new chef of the Costa Brava restaurant. He has catered to dignitaries from all over the world, including President Eisenhower, Winston Churchill, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. "Penthouse dining" amidst plush Spanish decor is a daily luncheon and dinner attraction here. For music and entertainment visit the lounge, dancing on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Vince Lirata of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant has a dandy diet tip: Whenever you feel the urge for a mid-morning or afternoon snack, order a side dish of shoe string carrots. "Good for you," says the genial restaurateur.

Don Dianda meets many stars from Hollywood as well as political and financial figures whenever they dine at Dinos in San Francisco. The superb Holiday award-winning cuisine and the world's finest wines attracts the gourmets.

Margie Brandon's New Year Dance

Organist Margie Brandon, the fascinating bundle of dynamite perched atop the Hammond organ at Big Nick's Paddock in San Francisco, makes absolutely no New Year's resolutions. However, her philosophy, alive in her daily communication with others, is quite simple: "If you have sown the seeds of kindness along your path, there will be a field of flowers at the end of the road." Sounds reasonable! . . . Bertolucci's Italian cuisine will please particular food fanciers of all ages. Pamper your palate with any of Mamma Bertolucci's specially made pastas, or your choice of numerous Continental dishes. A child's menu is also available, which indicates this South San Francisco restaurant caters to family dining. For enjoying your favorite libation and relaxed conversation, the cocktail lounge offers a comfortable atmosphere.

Before climbing the Jacobean staircase to the dining chambers of the Ben Jenson restaurant, first relax in the Lounge Hall at one of the intimate tables, or tip one of your favorite drinks in front of the large carved oak fireplace. Susan Mazur entertains with soothing tunes on the harp. You'll agree, it's a pleasurable time in a return to the Golden Age.

New Look Due For Papagayo Room

Nick Gust is doing it again — redecorating, that is, and we're referring to his Papagayo Room, a Pacifica ocean front restaurant which has gained the reputation of being a classy Mexican cantina where one may enjoy authentic dishes of the south-of-the-border land at reasonable prices. There's a veil of mystery around the refurbishing project of this Rockaway Beach restaurant which excites the curiosity of this "Bright Lights" Scribe. Will check out the situation more closely. In the meantime, watch for the reopening . . . The Moonraker, a nautical mecca situated on the level above, features gourmet dinners with a Continental flair, cocktails and organ music by Don Kelly. For pure dining pleasure, set your sails for this romantic setting overlooking one of the most beautiful ocean views along the Pacific coast which is illuminated after dark . . . Service begins at 10 a.m. at Nick's Restaurant and Lounge, located across the street. This well-established Rockaway Beach restaurant features breakfast, luncheon and dinner, with steak and seafood being specialties. Having a special party or planning a banquet? Let Nick Gust help you make the arrangements. If you feel like dancing and whooping it up, the Steve Romano Combo provides the Wednesday-through-Sunday dance sounds — and the fun lasts till the wee hours.

Weight Watchers Enjoy Shirt Tail

Weight-watchers are not forgotten on the luncheon menu at the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto. Char-broiled Top Sirloin Steak, Chopped Tenderloin Steak and Prime Rib of Beef are delectable low-cal offerings. Included are cottage cheese, tomato wedges, asparagus, hard-cooked egg and broiled peach. . . The staff at Park Avenue Tours is bustling with charter ideas to Nevada. When planning a special group charter or a drive-up, let Park Avenue Tours help you with the arrangements. Bus "Overnighters," via redhead bus, are also available, with per person double occupancy. Bonus values are most inviting. There's a convenient branch office in San Mateo for residents on the Peninsula. Drop in and let them assist you with vacation plans. . . A group of top United Theaters executives feasted on Beef Wellington in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lee's Theatre, in downtown San Francisco, before seeing "Man of La Mancha" at the nearby Golden Gate Theatre. . . Enrico Romano, who owns and operates Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, continues to climb his way to fame and fortune on the Coastside as the leading purveyor of pizzas. Whether they be large, medium or small, Romano is always successful.

Scotty Campbell's Guest Book 'A Must Register'

Many regular patrons of Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City claim that a culinary triumph here is Scampi (deep water shrimp) sauteed with wine and butter. However, the accent is on Prime Ribs of Beef and well-turned steaks, with chops, chicken also available on the menu. The guest book of this award-winning restaurant is filled with names of out-of-state guests who have expressed enthusiastic praise for the exceptional food and service.

A wild group called Bishop is now the main attraction five nights a week, Wednesdays through Sundays, at Whiskey Hill in Burlingame. Judging from the big dance crowds there, Owner Peter Brallier made the right decision when changing his entertainment roster. Appearing Monday and Tuesday nights is Oblivion. . . Vince Russo, as spry and spritely as ever, is again directing the activities at his newly remodeled Russo's Distillery in San Bruno. Besides an excellent dinner menu and unique decor, the Distillery presents live entertainment and dancing on weekends — featuring the San Francisco Set.

STELLAR ATTRACTION — Singer Birdie Lee, backed by Bob's Edition '72, continues to draw record crowds to the Deacon Brodie Tavern at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Saluto's Restaurant Family Oriented

Larry Gerald, who had become identified with the lively adult scene of San Francisco — through his lavish cocktail hours and undraped art at the Domino Club, has expanded into dining-out facilities more family oriented at his Saluto's restaurant, in Burlingame. The younger set is included on the dinner menu, with service at $1.45 for those under twelve years. The restaurant also contains a section where the flow of hours, dinners and intimate conversation continues. In the cocktail court, the lights dim at 9 p.m. for dancing.

Dons Drown Tangs

By DAN BERTELOTTI

Post Correspondent
Last Friday's torrid 92-87 loss to San Mateo was a lot more costly than Capuchino coach Jimmy Johnson and his quint had thought.

The Mustangs must have used up all their offensive strength, as last night they looked punchless losing to strong Aragon 67-49 Friday.

Capuchino was never in the game (unless you consider 2-2 in). That was the last the Tangs saw of the Dons the rest of the night. Aragon ran off a methodical string of 12 straight tallies and outscored Cap 20-8 in the first period.

After Cap's Mike Galvin hit a bucket to open the second stanza, Aragon ran off nine more straight to build a 19-point lead and put the game away with only 3:15 in the period.

Capuchino opened in a zone but soon abandoned that as the Dons worked for good shots patiently, and canned almost all of them. The ones that they didn't make, 6-8 Tom Flavin followed in.

His height advantage over the tiny 'Tangs was evident on both ends of the court as he swept both boards and intimidated anyone who dared come his way.

Aragon led 35-21 at half and continued to build their lead to 22 at the end of three quarters. In that quarter, Don guard Brian Sweeney came into his own, canning anything he threw up. He had ten of the Dons 20 points in the period. That might earn him a starting role in the next game.

The Mustangs were getting good movement on their offensive end, but Aragon's good defense and the intimidator, Flavin, kept the 'Tangs from getting any good shots. And most of the outside shots they did take, wouldn't drop.

Flavin led Aragon as usual with 28 tallies, his second superb game in a row. He now leads the MPL in scoring with 20.3 a game. Sweeney, just a junior, hit 14, his season high. Pe'e Santora, one of the many fine Cap guards, was their only double figure scorer with 12.

The Dns were successful in shutting down the 'Tangs' guards as Santora's 12 combined with Galvin's six and Frank Denucci's eight, didn't even put a dent in the Don machine. In defense of Galvin, he was in foul trouble much of the contest and never much of the contest and never was in the game long enough to Aragon is still in second place with a 3-1 slate while Cap drops farther back of league leader Mills at 1-2.

Williams Defeats Hillsdale 'Five'

It was hard to believe Friday that Hillsdale High's basketball team would have been 11 points better with Rod Williams playing.

But if such is the case, Mid-Peninsula League kingpin Mills has something else to worry about. Mills downed the visiting Knights, 52-41, but Hillsdale was not out-manuevered by much.

Williams suited up, at the request of his teammates, but the move was merely symbolic. He won't find out till Monday whether he'll be able to play Wednesday against San Mateo.

Actually, the Knights did well anyway. Working patiently and taking from 30 seconds to almost two minutes to get off a shot, they stayed within theoretical striking range until almost the end.

"I don't like that kind of game myself," said Mills coach Bill Smith of the Knight slowdown tactics. "But really, it's the only way to play us."

The trouble was, Mills seldom let down on defense. They've had slowdowns pulled on them before, by experts. They got a turnover or three, outshot Hillsdale by a mile at the foul line, and got their own buckets in a tenth the time it took Hillsdale.

Mills is now 4-0 and no one doubts where the Vikings will stand at playoff time. Hillsdale had a bad part of the schedule to face without Williams, losing to both Aragon and Mills, and is 1-2. But Knight coach Bill Wilkin is optimistic.

"This is still a coming team," he said of his hustling charges. "A lot of them are juniors, and they've made some mistakes. But you know, it could still wind up like last year." Last year Hillsdale and Mills met in the playoff final.

Williams won't be the only effective offensive threat for the Knights. Forward-turned-guard Kevin McCoy, hitting a fine percentage on a variety of shots, connected for 14. Forward Mike Arburn didn't shoot much till the end of the game, when Hillsdale was forced to try for the outside shot. But he hit them, scoring 10.

Knight pivotman Al Castillo, an aggressive player much improved over last year, showed no hesitation in driving the lane against Mills' 6-7 Tom MacKenzie, and drew a foul or two.

But try as the Knights might, their hard work would always turn worthless when Mills came downcourt. The Vikings, playing

Papan Lauds Reagan Talk

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-Daly City) has commended Governor Ronald Reagan for his "forward-looking" State of the State Address before a joint session of the California Legislature.

"The governor expressed concerns in many problem areas confronting California today. It is now up to all of us to work together in solving these problems," Assemblyman Papan said.

Papan added, however, that rather than simply return a few dollars to each taxpayer as the governor suggests, it would better serve all Californians if the $850 million tax surplus could be set aside in a fund for emergency uses. He cited the 1971 Los Angeles earthquake, ravishing brush fires in Southern California and extensive agricultural frost damage in his own district as examples of such emergencies.

Woman Killed In Plane Crash

A man was injured and his woman companion killed Saturday when the light plane he was piloting landed in the bay during an approach to San Francisco International Airport.

Everett Eckstein, 48, of Tempe City, was reported recovering satisfactorily today at Peninsula Hospital from head and abdominal injuries.

Eckstein apparently was thrown from his Beechcraft Bonanza when it landed in the shallow bay waters 100 yards from the end of Runway 28-Left. He was rescued by Coast Guardsmen minutes later and rushed to Peninsula Hospital.

Eckstein's passenger, Mary Katherine Ogle, 45, apparently was drowned in the wrecked plane.

She was identified as an artist and designer and a business associate of Eckstein's in a Southern California firm called Artists Incorporated.

The fatal crash ended a flight that had begun at El Monte airport where Eckstein kept his plane. He is known there as an experienced pilot who often uses the plane on business trips around the country.

Air traffic controllers at San Francisco International Airport ordered the rescue when the approaching plane disappeared off their radar screens in heavy fog.

There was no further explanation of the crash cause.

A Coast Guard helicopter, piloted by Lt. Ron Hoover, flew to

Gunshot Fatal to D.C. Youth

An 18-year-old Daly City youth died on Tuesday evening at Mary's Help Hospital from a gunshot wound — two days after he had been brought in from the scene of an accident.

Daly City Officer Don Prater had answered the call to investigate an accident on Canterbury Avenue — and found that the injured driver had a bullet hole in his head. The driver, Gary L. Benjamin, 250 Morton Drive, was rushed to Mary's Help and underwent immediate surgery.

According to police, Benjamin apparently got into his car after an argument, sped up and his 26-caliber automatic pistol either went off or he shot himself. His car then careened into a parked van. The case is still under investigation by the police and coroner.

Benjamin is survived by his mother, Eleanor. Funeral services will be held at the Chapel of the Sunset in San Francisco.

S.F. Airport Seeks Grant For Guards

San Francisco Airport Commission has asked the city for an "emergency" grant of $850,000 to pay for striked new anti-hijack security ordered by the federal government.

The funds would be used at International Airport to pay 83 new security guards until July 1. Airport Director James Carr said annual cost of the added guards would be $2 million. Carr noted however a bill by Senator Howard Cannon, D-Nev., that would create a federally financed airport security force appears headed for passage on a priority basis.

Brucato Joins D.C. Bank

John G. Brucato of Millbrae has been appointed a director to the board of the First National Bank of Daly City. A new branch of the bank will open in Millbrae in February.

Brucato has served as president of the Millbrae Historical Society and chairman of the Millbrae Beautification Commission. During the past two decades he has managed the San Francisco Water Department Land Division, founded the San Francisco Farmers Market and is chairman of the Markets Advisory Board.

Presently he serves the Archdiocese of San Francisco as real estate consultant and maintains his own offices in Millbrae where he is active as a land use consultant and property manager. He was a board director of the Cow Palace for eight years, serving as president for the past two years.

Bruno Health Rates Go Up

San Bruno City Council on January 8 reluctantly approved increased rates for employee group health insurance, which in one instance went up 33 per cent.

City Manager Gerald Minford, who said he would review the city's insurance package, estimated the new rates would cost the city $18,000 a year. This cost is split between the city and the employee, with the city picking up the larger share.

Employees two years ago February 1, when the new rates go into effect, asked to change from a Metropolitan Life Insurance package that had been used for years to a choice of Blue Cross or Kaiser insurance benefits.

Of the 182 city employees eligible (part-time employees are not for coverage, 107 use Blue Cross and 75 use Kaiser).

The Blue Cross coverage will jump in the neighborhood of 33 per cent. Kaiser's coverage, as of February 1, will go up approximately 9 per cent.

Each package offers a single (employee only), two party (employee and one dependent) rates are based on group use of insurance-related seminars at the University of California, Berkeley, at an estimated cost to the city of $85.

Both Blue Cross and Kaiser pointed out "the increased cost of providing health care."

Indications by the council were that other less expensive alternatives to health insurance coverage may be sought.

In other business, the council received a report that the Donald H. Seiler and Company had audited the city's books, showing that the city's aggregate cash balance as of September 30, 1972 was $2,049,037.82.

Granted permission for Planning Commissioner Earl Phillips to attend a series of eight planning-related seminars at the University of California, Berkeley, at an estimated cost to the city of $85.

Accepted sidewalks, street lights and landscaping improvements in the Tanforan Shopping Center subdivision, and released the subdivision bond.

Instructed the city staff to prepare comments on a proposal by South San Francisco that the county's flood control district adopt regulations to control land use and development within the Colma Creek watershed.

Introduced and adopted the first reading on an ordinance that will control the number and operation of cardrooms within the city.

DC Man Held For Kidnap

A 27-year-old Daly City man, Antonio Zandona, 135 Plymouth Circle, has been arraigned in Northern Judicial District Court on charges involving kidnapping and attacking of three girl hitchhikers.

South San Francisco police spokesman Officer Mike Morello said that Zandona was arrested Friday afternoon following a series of stakeouts by Detective Ron Petrocchi on Westborough Boulevard. He is being held in lieu of $25,000 bail.

He is alleged to have picked up the hitchhikers and forced them to commit indecent acts, at knife-point.

One case, in November, involved a 16-year-old girl whom he dropped off in San Bruno.

The second case, in December, involved two girls who jumped out of the car when it slowed down in South San Francisco.

Party Slated For Gaines

A retirement party for San Francisco International Airport public relations officer Ben F. Gaines will be held January 26 at the Airport Hilton.

Airport staffer Ms. Mary Ramirez, said the party will feature music, dancing, a buffet and no-host cocktails, plus presentation of a gift to the retiring Gaines.

festivities will begin at 5:30 p.m., she said, and conclude at 8:30.

Reservations for the party must be had from Ms. Ramirez at the International Airport offices.

Fluor Subsidiary in Marketing Agreement

Fluor Corp. and Lucas American Recyclers, Inc., have announced that a Fluor subsidiary, Fluor Utah, Inc., of San Mateo has entered into an exclusive licensing agreement to market, design and construct Lucas Cyclonic Waste Furnace Systems in the United States. The announcement was made jointly by Chairman J. R. Fluor of Fluor Corp. of Los Angeles and President Paul W. Charrand of Lucas American Recyclers of Lucas, San Francisco.

Lucas holds the American patents for systems developed by Lucas Furnace Developments Ltd. of England. The four systems are for the destruction of used tire carcasses, sewage sludge, wood waste and hydrocarbon, chemical, or plastic waste (liquid and solid).

Fluor Utah will be responsible for marketing, engineering and constructing the Lucas systems. The program will be directed by Vice President-Industrial Robert W. Long.

Big Bookie Payoff Told, 3 Arrested

Three men were arrested on Jan. 9 and more arrests are expected as the San Mateo County Organized Crime Unit and other law enforcement agencies started a crackdown on alleged bookmaking operations in which undercover police agents have been paid $800 in bribes over a period of nearly one year.

L. N. J. LoSchiavo, head of the Organized Crime Unit (OCU) said that one arrest in South San Francisco halted a $5000 a day bookmaking operation.

Arrested and scheduled for arraignment today in Northern District Municipal Court, South San Francisco, were:

Attilio Joe Spagnuolo, 41, a bartender, of 223 Lansdale Avenue, Millbrae, charged with 13 counts of bribery of a police officer.

Ronald Sacco, 39, of 80 Pinehurst Street, San Francisco, a teamster, charged with two counts of bribery of a police officer.

Howard Arthur Swann, 38, of 650 Mayfair Avenue, South San Francisco, a bartender, charged with five counts of bookmaking.

Swann currently is under indictment by the Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco on bookmaking charges.

Sacco was scheduled to appear in San Mateo County Superior Court January 15 for commitment to the State Prison Medical Facility, Vacaville, after pleading guilty to a bookmaking charge last year.

LoSchiavo said the investigation leading to last week's arrests and, hopefully, to more arrests in the near future, started last January when Sacco allegedly approached a member of the Organized Crime Unit with a bribe to have a bookmaking charge dropped against a girl friend.

The agent was instructed to go along with the request. From that situation, a meeting was arranged with Spagnuolo, with other bribes being paid on a monthly basis for advance warning of pending bookmaking arrests and raids, said LoSchiavo.

Some warnings were given, the lieutenant said, to make things look good.

"But they sure weren't warned about yesterday's planned arrests," he stated.

LoSchiavo reported that the Federal Strike Force, the FBI, the San Francisco Police Bureau of Special Services, South San Francisco police and the district attorney's office all are involved in the investigation.

Spagnuolo and Sacco were arrested at a Daly City restaurant, and Swann was picked up at 358 Alda Street, South San Francisco, the place where he allegedly conducted his bookmaking operation.

Bruno Firm Wins Plea

The California Supreme Court has ordered the state's Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to reinstate the suspended retail off-sale liquor license of "Bottles 'N' Bits". San Bruno liquor store operated by Top Hat Liquors, Inc., at 440 San Mateo Ave., Inc., following its suspension in December for "Fair Trade" law price violations.

Ray A. Douglass, Jr., president of the company which opposed the legal case against the ABC before the state Supreme Court which may set a new precedent in "Fair Trade" law enforcement practices, said: "We hope the Supreme Court will order the ABC to discontinue a business-breaking practice which it used to access a $10,250 fine against our company, a first-time offender, against which the fine should only have been $250. It has used this same unfair technique to blast other first-time violators of the 'Fair Trade' law with fines totalling as much as $20,000 to $30,000."

The ABC and Attorney General's offices have been given until January 19 to file legal pleadings against the action of the Supreme Court. If not opposed by them, the new ruling will stand as a new precedent condemning the ABC's practice of accumulating evidence of multiple "Fair Trade" law violations before taking enforcement steps.

New Cable TV Head Is Selected

Ron Tighe of Fremont was named manager of the Fremont district of the company which includes operations in Fremont, Morgan Hill, Grass Valley, Alameda County and Rocklin.

He joined the Evening Telegram company which was the original owner of the Pacific cable system and later became manager of the Fremont operation.

Regional Manager Ingham came to Tele-Communications after serving as vice president and general manager of the San Jose Cable TV Service in Santa Clara County. He previously held management positions with the CATV operations division of the Philadelphia Bulletin Company.

The appointment of Troy Lee, formerly of Fremont, as manager of San Francisco Peninsula Tele-communications, Inc., operator of cable television on the Peninsula, has been announced by Harvey Ingham, regional manager of the cable firm.

At the same time Ingham revealed that the Community Tele-communications, Inc. which operates the local systems with operating headquarters in Santa Clara.

A Pacific fleet took top honors and five other San Mateo county cars won "outstanding" awards recently at the 19th annual San Mateo Auto & Cycle show.

The Pacific entrant, a two-stakes winner, was Ray Kallejo with a 1915 Ford "C" cab-panel truck.

The other winners were:

- 1915 Ford roadster pickup owned by Bob Nunes of Atascadero, a 1932 Ford roadster owned by Ralph Arias of Redwood City, a Chevrolet sedan station wagon owned by Ray and Judy Conacho, a custom hardtop owned by Joe Poletti, and a model '37 roadster owned by Don Spencer of all South San Francisco.

"Best of Show" was awarded to the Roadster for its custom bodywork.

A merit award for environmental contributions was given the South San Francisco Baylands Planning, Conservation and National Wildlife Refuge Committee Jan. 10 during the fourth annual San Francisco Bay Area Council environmental awards luncheon in San Francisco. The South San Francisco Baylands ad hoc citizens' committee was formed in 1968 to work for the establishment of 22,000-acre National Wildlife Refuge around the southern portion of the Bay in San Mateo, Santa Clara and Alameda Counties. President Nixon signed

San Francisco Bay National Wildlife Refuge in 1972.

The Bay Area Environment Award was given to the People for a Golden Gate National Recreation Area, an ad hoc coalition of conservation and civic-minded individuals and groups who successfully lobbied for creation of a massive 34,000-acre federal recreation area in the Bay coastal region.

Other environmental awards were given to the Cities of Petaluma and Fairfield; Santa Clara County Parks and Recreation Department; Golden Gate Bridge District; and Tiburon Vintners in Sonoma County.

prepare for the forthcoming production of "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" and "Next," scheduled for performance January 26 and 27, February 2 and 3. Roy Castevens is directing.

"You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," by Robert Anderson, a trio of delighted one-act situations featuring "The Next" by Terrence McNally, is a serious comedy about a man in his forties who suddenly discovers he has been drafted.

Actors for this production come from many areas of the Bay Area. The cast includes Aniko Asquith, Terry Blend, Joe Cutcliffe, Sharon Cutcliffe, Richard A. Dubon, Michael Lyon, Chris Mumbert, Joe Murray, Vito Rosenblatt and Richard Spore.

Sounds of lines being shouted and sets being constructed now resound from the Broadway Theatre Workshop in Millbrae as performers and crews pre-

The cost of a proposerville would not give a sufficiently detailed study. Guilhamet reported that Edward A. Looney, a board member, asked if the now estimate is based on past experience. Alvin Johnson, a member of the board, responded to the question, answered it compares favorably with a similar study entirely new system, such as an extension of BART, to Menlo Park.

Johnson pointed out that BART is not now "in the San Mateo County picture" except for one little corner, but that the county is not paying any taxes because it serves Daly City.

The original estimate would not allow for sufficient detail, according to Guihamet, who said that because of the change in estimates, a grant application for $150,000 for the first third of the survey is being financed through increased sales taxes on gasoline, while two-thirds is expected to come from the Federal Urban Mass Transit Agency.

Guihamet told the board that the Metropolitan Transit Agency, a citizens' advisory committee, and the staff of the county engineer will prepare a report that an application for funds be re-submitted as rapidly as possible.

The board had approved an application for $150,000 for the survey at its last meeting November 10, an amount which Francis P. LaCelle, former Daly City mayor and a member of the board, suggested the staff present a breakdown of the costs. He said that at the next meeting so an application can be re-submitted to the Metropolitan Transit Commission as soon as possible.

Daly City Engineer S. H. Cantwell said existing systems such as in Redwood City will be integrated into the system. The survey will examine all cities that need local transit systems.

He said that if no other member, said several questions came up at San Jose meeting Monday night about upgrading the Southern Pacific system. He said that some of the companies serving firms have concluded that it would be better to build Mission Vieja Community College and San Mateo have already received transit study grants. Lawson, chairman of the board, said:

Lawson said the survey cannot be done in two ways.

Determine how many people are going to get on a bus if it takes a certain route by surveying each house separately. This, he said, would cost $3.5 million.

But if you do a street survey, see how many people get on it, Cantwell reported that if a coordinated bus system is formed, most individuals will be able to use individual transit systems by the Metropolitan Transit Commission.

Guihamet suggested the survey be done in two phases, and said Phase one would begin as soon as a consultant contract can be executed.

A Newport Beach man was critically injured Sunday night when his car ran off Cabrillo Highway near La Honda Road. Marina was approved by the South San Francisco City Council, at an adjourned meeting Wednesday night.

Despite spirited complaints from conservationists, San Mateo County Harbor District commissioners Friday adopted a near San Gregorio, the embankment and overturned three times, the highway patrol reports.

Witnesses told Patrolman M. R. Cramer that the southbound compact swerved, apparently when another car pulled into the left lane from the road in its path about 2:30 p.m.

Conciliem approved by 40 votes two resolutions:

- A request of $25,000 in financial aid from the San Mateo County Harbor District
- A request of $40,000 loan from the State Department of Navigation and Ocean Development

A comprehensive environmental impact report on the quarrying of rock from the old El Granada Quarry for some of its proposed fill projects was also discussed.

The required notice was given at least 24 hours ahead of time, but the Committee for Green Foothills promptly objected.

Cramer said the car's driver had no identification other than a citation issued last Friday in connection with the arrest of a man charging Charles Vapo, 46, of Newport Beach, with having an open container of alcoholic beverage in his vehicle and having a driver's license in possession of a minor.

The injured man was taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlington. Cramer said he was unable to question the driver because of the latter's injuries.

Big Building Year Ends For S.S.F.

Completing a banner year in building, South San Francisco approached the two million dollar a month mark in 1972.

According to figures compiled by Chief Building Inspector Leonard Pittz, he issued a total of $23,218,310 in building permits. This compares to $17,380,395 issued in 1971.

Despite the eye-opening industrial development of South San Francisco, it was still the single family home that was king of building in South San Francisco. The city was also up in the number of apartment permits issued — 70 as compared to 21 for 1971, totaling $3,820,290 in value, compared to $1,692,100 in 1971.

However, the number of duplexes fell from 134 in 1971 at a $3,528,800 value, to one, at a $41,800 value. This resulted in the city's growth in dwelling units remaining virtually the same — 653 in 1972, compared to 658 in 1971.

Industrial construction rose from 15, at a $3,811,200 cost, to 25, at a $4,300,650 cost. Commercial construction zoned from $1,570,500 to $5,668,150 — but this latter figure included the $3,312,000 Kaiser Hospital permits at $640,370 to 258 permits totaling $675,140. Commercial remodeling fell from 42 totaling $912,750 to 26 projects totaling $331,650. Industrial remodeling, however, rose from 63 projects at $822,325, to 81, totaling $1,695,510.

A total of 18 demolition permits was issued both years.
